

Hysterectomy for mentally ill women

"a Legal Jurisprudence medical Study"

Prepared by: Omran Ayed Emran sulaiman

Supervisor: D. Jamal Abd-Al jaleel Saleh

Abstract

This study concentrated on “Hysterectomy for mentally ill women” which is a Legal Jurisprudence medical Study. It also illustrated the legal provision of hysterectomy for mentally ill woman. In addition to that, the importance of this study was to cure a repetitive situation in the present days, which caused many questioning and doubting about the legal solution and provision to this situation and its monitor, in addition to the medical and the legal perspective to it.

The author of this study used the comparative analytical method, with inducting several different books, researches, articles, and provisions regarding this situation and later on comparing and analyzing them. As a result, the researcher was able to put assumptions based on strong evidence and general information, combined with the legal provision in religion and the medical perspectives on this situation.

Furthermore, this study viewed several cases, where it talked about the human soul and needs according to the Islamic laws, its importance, and the prohibitions on it, and the understanding of the term hysterectomy, the way Islamic law looks at it. Then it viewed the Hysterectomy for mentally ill women from the medical point of view, the causes and the reasons behind this action. Nevertheless, a literature part was done on how does the Islamic religion and its law regard mental illness, how to take care of it, and then the Islamic point of view and the other alternatives to such an action “Hysterectomy”.

The study concluded many results and some of them were; the statues and the dignity of the human soul for God, prohibition and criminalization of Hysterectomy for mentally ill women whether it was legally or religiously, and its recommendation on very important and necessary cases.

The important recommendations, which were recommended by the research, where characterized in creating laws and legitimacy that guarantee the security and the health of mentally ill individuals. Increasing the level of security and observation on hospitals and clinical institutions to prevent them from doing these surgeries, and try to find alternatives and solutions for Hysterectomy that regards the safeness of mentally ill women and that regards the comfort for their family.